Russians Cut Trunk Railway Escape Route of Nazis

SEVENTH ARMY CHECKS GERMAN OFFENSIVE

Desperate Nazi Drive in West Smashed Back

Enemy Losses Reported Heavy

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, Jan. 25. (AP)—The Germans opened up in Northeastern France today with what may be their last offensive in the west, but it was checked by savage United States Seventh Army counterattacks after it had broken across the new American Moselle river line at four points. The attack rolled out at dawn along a twenty-mile front, with two crack armored divisions pacing at least two others in an assault which nowhere gained as much as two miles. A front dispatch said hard fighting raged tonight with the Americans inflicting punishing losses.

Germans Smashed Back

All along the front, a late dispatch said, the Germans were checked or smashed back. The threat to American positions at pivotal Haguenau, probably an initial German objective, was eased by doughier counterattacks which showed the enemy back across the Moselle river east of this town, fifteen miles north of Strasbourg.

Three German crossings of the Moselle in considerable force from two to five miles west of Haguenau and fifteen miles deep into Alsace, also were under attack and the enemy was being driven back across the river.

While late reports said the Germans were being "contained," there was no attempt to minimize the force of the push and a United States staff officer declared it was a "major effort" to try to recapture all Alsace, which Hitler had incorporated into the Reich in 1940. The Germans charged under cover of thick weather as they did in the ill-fated Ardennes campaign, striking with at least one armored division brought down from the Ardennes, two other armored divisions, one parachute division and two infantry divisions.

Germans Have Reserves

In addition, they had other troops in reserve and also had units counterattacking in Southern Alsace against the French First army to keep up the pressure all along the Alsatian front.

The Allies can afford to give ground here and the Germans chose to attack—from Haguenau westward to the Vosges—at a time when the Allies farther north were seizing the territory they need for the supreme assault on Germany from the west.

The British Second army, engulfing eight more towns as deep as eleven miles into Germany, was within a mile of the Roer river barrier to the Cologne plain, and sending patrols stabbing toward the river. The Tommies were three miles from the enemy's Holland stronghold of Roermond, and had flattened the German salient on that front north of Aachen.

The Germans were falling back to the Roer, from where they have speculated the next big Allied drive will come.

Senate Approves Road Board Bill

The Maryland State Senate yesterday passed Senate Bill No. 137, providing payments to the Allegheny county commissioners for services rendered as road commissioners and to the clerk of the board for services rendered to the commissioners as road commissioners.

The bill which was referred to the Senate Select committee of Robert B. Kimble, Allegheny; John B. Funk, Frederick; and Bernard I. Gonder, Garrett, provided that the county commissioners and clerk shall be paid $600 per annum, payable monthly, beginning as of October 1, 1944, in addition to the compensation provided by Sections 100 and 101.

Gen. Stilwell Is Named Commander Of Ground Forces on Chinese Soil

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—In a move weighing heavily on the Japanese, the War Department today named General Joseph W. Stilwell to command army ground forces. Stilwell is the American general with the longest experience in Japanese military methods. He assumes command of the ground forces at a time when the task of reorganizing and training them for a major assault against Japan—either on Japanese or Chinese soil or both—appears to be pressing for attention.

LUZON NATIVES WELCOME YANKS

WAVING A MAKESHIFT FLAG but looking worried, two Filipinos rise from the grass to welcome the invading Yanks near a Langayan beach. Messages dropped by our airmen had told the inhabitants of their town, Binmaley, to gather in a specified area for safety, but these two couldn't wait.

Soviet Envoy To Mexico Dies In Plane Crash

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 25. (AP)—Constantine Oumansky, 42, Soviet ambassador to Mexico, was killed today in the crash of a Mexican air force plane 500 yards from the airport in a take-off.

His wife and seven others, three of them members of Oumansky's staff, also died in the accident.

Only two of the eleven aboard survived and both suffered injuries and burns.

Start for Costa Rica

The plane took off at 5:30 a. m. for Costa Rica, where Oumansky had been assigned as Russian minister to officiate in the opening of diplomatic relations between the countries.

The craft failed in its attempt to gain altitude and Dr. W. L. Garnett of the American-British hospital, said it caught fire, at least after the crash.

Mrs. Leo Troynitsky, wife of the first secretary who was killed, suffered serious burns on a leg and on her face and may have a back injury, Dr. Garnett said.

He said a Mexican pilot mechanic, whose name was not revealed, saved his life by dragging her from the flaming wreckage. The mechanic, the other survivor, suffered a broken arm and face burns.

Other Russians Killed

Other Russians killed were military attaché Savin-Lazarev and a clerk, Yuri Vdovin. Oumansky, at 36, became ambassador to the United States and was the youngest envoy in Washington from a major power.

He served during the trying period for a Russian diplomat when American public opinion favored Finland during the Russian-Finnish war.

This was reversed, however, when Germany invaded Russia in 1941 and Soviet functions, once poorly attended, again attracted many guests.

The ambassador long had been an important figure in the Russian press and had served as director general of the news agency, Tass.

Stilwell replaces General Ben Lear, who has been assigned as deputy commander in the European theater in charge of administrative matters concerning American troops.

The fact that both Lear and his predecessor, Gen. Leslie McNair, received important overseas assignments after heading the ground forces at a time when the task of reorganizing and training them for a major assault against Japan—either on Japanese or Chinese soil or both—appears to be pressing for attention.

200,000 Germans Trapped by Reds In East Prussia

Soviet Troops Gain on Oder

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Friday, Jan. 26. (AP)—The Red army cut the trunk railway escape route out of half-conquered East Prussia yesterday, sealing off perhaps 200,000 German troops, while Berlin announced that other Soviet units had pierced the upper Oder river defense line on a 125-mile front on both sides of besieged Breslau, Silesian capital.

The German news agency DNB said the Russian invaders of East Prussia, totalling more than 2,325,000 men, had driven a wedge to the Baltic coast at Elbing in one of the greatest encirclement operations in history, and had broken into Elbing itself, thirty miles southeast of Danzig.

Cut Trunk Railway

While Moscow did not officially confirm this report the Soviet communiqué did announce the capture of Briensdorf, nine miles east of Elbing, and Baumgarten, twelve miles to the south. In taking Briensdorf the Russians cut the last Berlin-Königsberg trunk railway.

Capturing more than 1,500 towns and villages on the fourteenth day of their gigantic push toward the heart of Germany, the Russians drove to within five miles east of Poznan, Western Polish stronghold and "gateway to Berlin," with the capture of Szwarcz, Murawna-Godina, ten miles north of Poznan, also fell as the Russians surged up to the Warta river and prepared to cross that barrier in a flanking movement on Poznan.

125 Miles from Berlin

With the capture of Szwarcz the Russians now were 142 miles east of Berlin, the closest approach to the Reich capital. The Soviet army newspaper Red Star, however, said some units were about 125 miles from the Nazi capital, presumably to the southeast.

Pushing westward across the base of the Polish corridor north of Poznan the Russians in a ten-mile advance seized Krynin, twenty-two miles from the German Pomeranian frontier and 125 miles southeast of the Baltic port of Stettin.

Seize 700 Towns

Units of two Soviet armies seized a total of 700 towns and villages in East Prussia as they closed in steadily on Königsberg, East Prussian capital and central base for the outnumbered Germans.

Starkenberg, seventeen miles southeast of Königsberg, was seized by the Russians, as were Gross Schorlach, twenty miles on the northeast, and Goldbach, twenty-one miles to the east. Berlin acknowledged that the "first line" of defenses guarding Königsberg had been breached.

Soviet front dispatches said thousands of Russian, French and Polish civilians, impressed into fortification work by the Germans, had been liberated, and that whole trainloads of tanks, munitions and other military supplies had been captured intact by Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian army.

In Southeastern East Prussia other Soviet units closing in on the central core of German resistance captured the strongholds of Arys, Johannsburg, twenty-five miles southwest of Lyck. Arys, a big barracks town, was where Soviet troops in 1920 were interned by the Germans after losing the battle for Warsaw and retreating into that province.

The Road to Berlin

(By The Associated Press) Eastern front: 125 miles (by Soviet army newspaper Red Star account, from Steinau area presumably). Western front: 310 miles (from Linnich-Julich-Duren area). Italian front: 544 miles (from Reno river).

Traffic Blocked, Pedestrians Trampled, In New York Rush To Purchase Cigaretts

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP)—It's chain with eighty-six stores. "We as though Dorothy Lamour were giving away kisses at an army base. Let one package of cigarettes be sold across a counter and the stampede is on. Traffic has been blocked and passersby trampled by the crowds that collect whenever the "no cigarettes" sign comes down.

Dealers have yet to find a means of preventing such mob scenes or of spreading limited supplies to accommodate the largest possible number of customers.

"Our stores sell cigarettes for three one-hour periods a day as long as they last," said the sales head of a

FDR Appoints Elliott Brigadier General After Priority Episode

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—Col. Elliott Roosevelt was nominated by his dad today to be a brigadier general and several senators said his dog's sky travels won't becloud the issue. The nomination of the 34-year-old air forces officer went automatically to the Senate Military committee on a routine list of army promotions including seventy-seven other colonels to one-star grade. This is the committee which set

Somervell Asks Treble Output Of Small Arms

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Jan. 25. (AP)—The United States arsenal of democracy must treble its small arms ammunition production and double the output of medium and heavy ammunition to keep Allied armies fully equipped for the western front battles ahead. Lt. Gen. Brehon S. Somervell declared today.

Although machine tools and other supplies will be shipped to France to transform her into a smaller arsenal, the commander of army service force said the greatest pressure would have to be exerted on home production to prevent shortages in at least a dozen of the important implements of war.

Besides the normal wear and tear of battle, Somervell presented these reasons why the arms production surge in the United States must rise sharply:

Several hundred thousand more French troops will be sent into action on the Western front, and it is largely up to the United States to supply and equip them.

Plans are in the works to arm more Belgian forces. The constant race with the Germans to put the best equipment into the field—a race of which he asserted: "Don't get the idea we are behind the Germans in tanks, or any other equipment"—places greater demands on the production front.

Disclosing that American delivery of war materials to Russia had not diminished despite more than seven months of war in Western Europe, he said that merchant ships now can go into the Black sea and discharge their cargoes at Russian ports.

Allied armies already have supplies on hand to mount a general offensive if the Russian advance in the east should make it desirable.

up a subcommittee of three to inquire into army priority practices which permitted Blaze, young Roosevelt's big bull mastiff, to travel by transport to Hollywood after three service men were put off.

Chairman Stewart (D-Tenn.), in charge of the subcommittee, said the inquiry, relating only to priority practices, did not involve in any way the right of young Roosevelt to a promotion.

Roosevelt has said he had no knowledge as to how his dog would be shipped to his wife, Faye Emerson, an actress, and specifically denied any thought it would get top "A" priority.

Senator Revercomb (R-W.Va.), a member of the full committee which will pass on the promotion, said that "you may be certain it will receive careful consideration, just as all the others will be."

"If he is entitled to promotion on the basis of his record, it will be confirmed. If he isn't, it will be opposed."

Jonathan Daniels, presidential aide, told White House reporters the nomination had been received in the routine way from the army and was handled in the routine way.

He merely laughed when a reporter quipped: "Is Blaze being given a commission in the K-9 Corps?"

The head of the provisional French government said regretfully that France had not been invited to the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference. He also explained that France does not intend to recognize the Lublin committee as the provisional government of Poland—at least, not immediately.

Appearing in the glacial conference room of the war ministry in a huge army overcoat and rubbing his hands frequently to keep them warm, De Gaulle declared that French troops must be placed along the Rhine after the war "not only for French security, but for the security of Western Europe and even the security of the world."

He told 200 French and foreign correspondents that the history of the past 100 years has shown that this was necessary and explained that France had suffered too much in this war not to claim the guarantee.

248 Lives Lost With Troopship

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—Along with a report of 36,456 new army casualties, Secretary Stimson revealed today the recent sinking in European waters of a ship carrying American troops, with 765 dead and missing.

No detail was given in the loss of the troopship, beyond the fact that she was sunk by enemy action while carrying more than 2,200 soldiers, of whom more than 1,400 were saved. The casualties were divided: 248 dead and 517 missing.

The "scorched earth" order and other signs indicated the Nazis may be despairing of stemming the Russian tide now reported only 125 miles from Berlin—or of making

Great Air Base Falls in Drive To Take Manila

Major Setback For Japanese

By C. YATES McDANIEL

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Friday, Jan. 26. (AP)—Clark field, whose thirteen airstrips constitute one of the richest prizes in the Pacific war, was captured Thursday by southward driving Yanks along with adjacent Port Stotsenburg while other columns pushed even deeper to within a scant forty airline miles of Manila. This climax of a campaign which has yet to run into any concentrated Japanese opposition during a push of more than seventy miles from Lingayen gulf averaged one of America's major setbacks of the Pacific war.

Air Base for Yanks

Clark field, where Japanese dive-bombers wiped out Gen. Douglas MacArthur's main air strength in the Philippines in early December, 1942, thus facilitating Japanese conquest of the archipelago, gives the American a land air base to help blast open landing beaches on the coast of China.

Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold's Fourteenth army corps, moving so fast that the Japanese were unable to mass defenses in ridge areas where they had labored for months, shot mortared columns well beyond Clark field.

Chase Japs into Hills

Moving for quick use of the air center, Griswold sent patrols into the nearby hills from which Japanese could impair the field's usability.

Today's communique supplied other details which made clear the drive toward Manila is on in earnest. While planes blasted Corregidor and Cavite naval base in the Manila area to soften up the capital's defenses, columns moving south on the left of Clark field banked Mt. Arayat on the west. That mountain is the only good defense barrier for the enemy from the Central Luzon plains on the shortest route to Manila.

Infantrymen of the Fourteenth corps were ferreting the enemy and his guns out of hillside caves from which he failed to defend the largest and most highly developed military aviation center in the Philippines.

Find Many Mines

The Yanks, seizing the field early yesterday morning, found few Japanese but numerous land mines and booby traps.

Most of what was once a strong Japanese garrison of several thousand troops had fallen back into the hills east of the field, where they

Western Union Workers Select AFL over CIO

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—The AFL's three organizations in the Western Union system won collective bargaining elections in virtually all of the United States today, leaving the CIO in control only in Metropolitan New York area.

The election, conducted by the National Labor Relations Board, was the outgrowth of the merger of Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies. The AFL previously had represented the workers in the Western Union system and the CIO union had bargaining rights for Postal employees.

The three AFL unions—the Commercial Telegraphers Union, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and the Federal Labor Union—previously had agreed on jurisdictional lines between them and they will be designated as bargaining agents for certain employees on that basis.

The AFL won six of seven divisional elections.

Hitler Orders His Commanders To Scorch Soil They Abandon

LONDON, Jan. 25. (AP)—Adolf Hitler tonight categorically ordered German commanders on the eastern front to scorch every inch of German soil they abandon, while German troops were ordered to set fire to populations of Prague and Eastern Czechoslovakian cities retreating as the Red army approached.

The "scorched earth" order and other signs indicated the Nazis may be despairing of stemming the Russian tide now reported only 125 miles from Berlin—or of making an early return to the yielded territory. As hordes of homeless Germans trudged miserably back to trench-digging Berlin, Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels wailed his old cry that the Reich "now stands deserted and alone against Russian masses surpassing all previous imagination."

Berlin disclosed the Czechoslovak state of siege and admitted Nazi forces were retreating before Red armies driving approximately 125 miles from Prague, the old Czechoslovak capital.

Thomas L. Lewis Loses His Life In Pacific Area

By KATHERINE FISHER
MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 25.—Thomas LeBell Lewis S 2-c, was killed in action in the Pacific, according to a telegram received here January 4 by his widow, Seaman Lewis was inducted in the service April 7, 1944 and took his boot training at Camp Peary, Va. He was stationed at San Francisco for a short while before going to the Hawaiian Islands.

He was the 28 year-old son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Al Lewis and was born on Twin Mountain. On October 11, 1937, he married Miss Martha Ann Shockey, who with four children, Ira, Fred, Donnie and Delmas, survive. One brother, Samuel Lewis, Old Fields, and two sisters, Miss Catherine Lewis, Ruddle and Miss Laura Lewis, Crab-bottom, Va., also survive.

Before his induction into the service, Mr. Lewis was employed at the Thompson Mahogany plant here.

Vast War Plant Is Just a Laboratory For Dr. Marion Dakin, Whose Research Keeps Women Workers Fit and Content

By BERT DARLING
Central Press Correspondent

BURBANK, Cal.—The elderly riveter on the bomber assembly line nudged the Guadalcanal veteran who "bucked" rivets for him eight hours a day.

"Take a gander at the new gal over there," he grinned. "She must be new here—she acts like she enjoyed it."

The boy who'd taken a Jap bayonet in the thigh, grinned: "She whole plane is her guinea pig—only Dr. Dakin would probably say "laboratory," instead, inasmuch as she utilizes it for research into women's work.

So far as is known, she's the only lady doctor in America who has tackled the problem of speeding up war work with a predominantly female labor crew by going into the plant and working at all the jobs.

"The attractive 31-year-old lady doctor has arrived at the conclusion that ninety per cent of the jobs in aircraft plants are well within the capabilities, physically, of womankind.

A superstition had been growing, before Dr. Dakin took over, however, that women were not capable of handling a large percentage of aircraft jobs.

does. This whole plant's just a big guinea pig for her!"

"How come?" asked the white-haired riveter.

"Haven't you heard? That's Dr. Marion Dakin, M.D. Her job is tryin' to figure out ways and means of makin' aircraft jobs easier for women."

Dr. Dakin is quite an institution at the sprawling Lockheed Aircraft plant here in Burbank, Cal. As the Guadalcanal veteran puts it, the

ON THE JOB—Dr. Marion Dakin tries her hand with a riveting gun.

Comely Dr. Dakin didn't believe it. To back up her own beliefs, she climbed into a pair of coveralls, wrapped a bandanna around her curls, and sallied into the cavernous plant where thousands of men—and women—were working round-the-clock to turn out fighter planes for the battle fronts.

Working at fifty different jobs that employ women, the lady doctor spent four months in the innumerable hangars and sheds of the factory.

Dr. Dakin didn't pick the "soft" jobs either, the reason being simply that she wanted to find out why women became discontented or quit with such alarming frequency at certain tasks.

Entering the aircraft industry at a period when personnel could be hand-picked for every task, Dr. Dakin, as Lockheed's first feminine physician, watched the period of rapid growth arrive shortly after Pearl Harbor.

Dr. Dakin says the physical, mental and personality standards being constantly lowered as thousands of new workers were added to the pay roll, and, finally, she witnessed the current stage of concentration on the most efficient use of available manpower.

The aircraft industry had started to battle "turnover," which among the women workers was especially high. Turnover added up to valuable time lost in recruiting, hiring and training new workers. It was at this point that Dr. Dakin donned coveralls and bandanna.

Th lady physician reasoned that she was an average physical specimen of her sex, and that, therefore, her reactions to various tasks would represent accurately women's adjustments to plant routine.

While Dr. Dakin boasted no accurate knowledge of job requirements, she firmly believed that women were capable of doing even more than they were doing.

And Dr. Marion Dakin had a sneaking suspicion that the less desirable jobs were victims of unfounded rumor.

One of the first things that Dr. Dakin found out was that women tried too hard, didn't relax. Sometimes, frightened by their new environment, they became tense, developed unnecessarily sore arms from tense work with previously little-used muscles.

The doctor summed it up to her employers: "If Dr. Dean were to pitch a game without careful conditioning over a period of several weeks, he would have an epicondylitis and sprained shoulder before the seventh inning stretch!"

This summation led the lady to make a few recommendations: Frequent rests during the training period; a change of working position from time to time, and a gradual building up of a capacity for the job.

Marion Dakin learned, too, that emotional disturbances are an important cause of fatigue among women workers. Family worries, for instance, which men usually forget while on the job, are brought to work by the women, and just as real as an actual physical injury is the imagined backache of the woman who doesn't feel adequate for her task, or who dislikes her boss or her fellow worker.

Bucking rivets while squeezed within the narrow confines of Flying Fortress wing jigs is one of the reputedly "tough" jobs around an aircraft plant.

"I liked that job best," the attractive lady doctor smiles. "Sure, I was wedged between the wing struts and the solid metal wing sections. It didn't cramp me; it was simply a matter of learning how to change position."

Quite in contrast was Dr. Dakin's stab at one of the "easy" jobs—a bench job where she could sit continuously. She was exhausted after eight hours of that.

If the expert welder suddenly discovers that her back aches, Dr. Dakin immediately scents emotional trouble. That calls for a counselor. The job itself may be at fault, in which case tools are redesigned to women's sizes; work rotated to use different muscles, and to add interest, or corrective exercises may be tried. This last, "muscle education" it is called, has completely eliminated complaints from women workers on this score.

"Trouble shooting" is one of Dr. Dakin's major functions in the women's clinic. Every now and then a department head will call upon her to investigate a specified job thoroughly. She does, in coveralls and bandanna—and it's not long before there is no more trouble!

Government by Men and Government by Law

THE DANGER of relying upon government by men instead of government by law is sharply impressed by the controversy that is raging in Washington over the summary political dismissal of Jesse Jones as secretary of commerce and head of the government's chief lending agencies to make room for a man so conspicuously incompetent as Henry A. Wallace. This factor has been somewhat overshadowed by consideration of the sordid political angle, but it certainly provides an equally serious lesson on government concept.

Jesse Jones is a fellow who had the ability to wheedle out of Congress the authority to use government credit to almost any number of billions he named and for almost any purpose he thought good. Congressmen liked Jesse and they trusted him because he is a hard-headed banker and knows all the ropes and pitfalls of finance. The record of his administration indicates that the confidence was not misplaced.

But there comes now a nominee for the job concerning whom Congress doesn't feel as it has felt about Jesse. While the lawmakers do not doubt the honesty and sincerity of Wallace, they do have well-grounded doubts as to his ability for such a job because of his inexperience in the field and his screwball proclivities.

The moral of this unfortunate situation is clearly set forth by the Pittsburgh Press. It is that "Congress should never have voted money and power in such a high, wide and handsome way, and without customary government audits and checks just because it liked the cut of Jesse's jib," adding that the Congress should hereafter write into all laws the proper controls and limitations, so that the purposes and intent of Congress will be carried out even if administrators change. The lesson is crystal clear and gives emphasis to the fight that has so long been made against government by men in place of government by law.

Is Courtesy a War Casualty?

A CONTEMPORARY bemoans a discernible lack of common courtesy, which it includes among the casualties of war.

People shoulder one another aside in stores on the sidewalks. It is noted. Men tramp over women and children to get into buses and street cars—it is a city in which street cars are still operated. Shoppers bark at salespeople and the average suspicion stops just short of insulting the least exacting buyers. Such favors as holding a door open for the person back of you, are accepted without even a nod of recognition, much less a "thank-you." And this is said to characterize the whole gamut of day-by-day human contacts and relationships in that particular city.

Exceptions are admitted—bright and shining ones—but by and large it is felt that the courtesy average has dropped far below the prewar level. It is believed to be the product of war environment, part of the price we are paying for the distorted condition of our lives and it is held a great pity.

If this growing lack of common courtesy is general, it is, indeed, a great pity. But this newspaper is happy to report that it does not generally obtain in Cumberland. Of course, there are exceptions, which are always the rule anywhere. But by and large, this newspaper finds Cumberland people even more considerate and courteous as a general rule. There is obvious manifestation of a recognition of the war emergency with a feeling that one should put one's self out to make life smoother and sweeter amidst all the restrictions and deprivations that have come to the home front as a means of aiding the war effort. An attitude can easily be sensed that one's war effort is not enough and that it would be greater if one only knew where else to exert it.

Whatever the varying conditions in different localities, however, all can agree that a little courtesy, a little thoughtfulness where others are concerned, a nod and a smile, a cheery "thank-you," a willingness to do little things for others and to acknowledge those done for you will do much more to make the day brighter and lighten anybody's load, but at the same time enhance the general war effort by strengthening home morale.

Koiso's Days Appear To Be Numbered

PREDICTIONS are coming thick and fast that Koiso's days as head of the Tokyo government are numbered. Before him Tojo had built up great personal power—greater than that possessed by any individual since the shoguns of medieval times. But he was not able to survive the disaster of Saipan.

Koiso is confronted by even greater disasters, including the invasion of Luzon, the severance of the vital supply lines through the South China sea and the rising crescendo of American bombs bursting on military targets in the heart of the empire.

So far the Japanese army clique which built up power in Manchuria has been able to retain a tight rein. The navy commanders haven't been in it, largely because they have not had a triumph since Pearl Harbor and have lost much face. Many of the leading admirals have committed suicide. Japan's business magnates have been able to force their way into the army's inner circles of command. If there are to be fundamental cabinet changes in Japan, they probably will reflect a growing sphere of influence for Japan's industrial tycoons.

There would be method in that, method and cunning. Japan's leaders are as discerning as those of any other nation, and they know they have lost the war. From now on their governmental set-up will be designed to save whatever they can. It would not be surprising presently to see the formation of a Japanese government composed of those having pre-Pearl Harbor reputations for international co-operation.

That would be Japan's bid for peace with retention of Manchuria, Korea, Formosa and other tid-bits of conquest. But, this territory would give Japan the nucleus of preparation for another war.

The Illegal Uniform Becomes a Problem

JOHN W. VINCENT, special agent in charge of the Baltimore field office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, asks the Cumberland News to remind its readers that a federal statute, with plenty of teeth in it, is in force against the illegal wearing of uniforms. The reason for the request is that the illegal wearing of service uniforms has become a serious home-front problem, convictions for the offense having increased 155 per cent during the first half of the 1945 fiscal year over that of the corresponding period a year ago.

Any individual who falsely represents himself to be in the armed services or a government employee and who by such misrepresentation obtains or attempts to obtain something of value violates the Impersonation statute and may be prosecuted. But the mere wearing of an official uniform or any distinctive part thereof violates the Illegal Wearing of the Uniform act. The maximum penalty for the latter is six months in jail and a fine of $300. The Impersonation statute provides a maximum penalty of three years imprisonment and a fine of $1,000.

Of course, the average citizen cannot spot offhand those who are illegally wearing uniforms, but Vincent says the occasion is presented when these fakers try to work their schemes in the promotion of which the uniform is used as a shield. The most of them, he says, are talkative but they become evasive when asked to show their credentials. Every legitimate government representative or member of the armed services has a proper identification, which will be shown on request. Those who refuse to show it or who act suspiciously, Vincent says, should be reported immediately to the FBI or the nearest law enforcement agency.

Timely Warning Is Given by Crowley

LEO CROWLEY, chairman of the Federal Credit Insurance Corporation, hit upon an important and timely topic in his annual report thereon in stressing the undesirability of governmental financing of industry in time of peace.

Crowley pointed out that "adequate private resources" exist for this purpose in the commercial banks and that there is no need for government either to make loans directly to business or to guarantee commercial bank loans through the Federal Reserve system. He says that such a policy would tend to undermine the principle of banking as a definitely private function. He holds out that there is a vital distinction between government loans to finance war contracts as a war emergency and such loans for normal peacetime operations.

The government should regulate private banking up to the point of general precautions to assure the safety of the credit entrusted to banks by their depositors, but the extension of government control of that credit to private borrowers is going too far. Such extension is just another step in the drive to centralize federal authority and to develop the control of private enterprise so assiduously and insiduously sought by the New Dealers as part of their economic revolution. As a matter of fact the government has gradually taken over control of the banking system of the country and it is refreshing to see some one in authority pointing out that a halt should be called to it.

With one pouch falling heir to $20,000 and another getting an "A" airplane priority, the phrase "leading a dog's life" has just about lost all its old meaning.

Our houses, says a noted architect, are tops in ugliness. That old wall motto must now be revised to read: "Be it ever so homely—"

The new British House of Commons will have more members than seats. Sounds like the structure will be patterned after a bus.

Instinct Is Right

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I believe in instinct. It is our deeper wisdom.

Perhaps that is not the right word for it. Some of the psychologists don't use that word any more. They've abandoned those old terms like the "instincts of self preservation" and the other instincts and say they don't exist.

But just the same there IS something within us that defies words, defies the microscope, defies any measuring device and that's the thing in which I believe.

I think it's true—and our best guide.

Some people say, "You must think things out. You must think them through." All right. Yes. Think things through if you wish; that's good exercise for the mind. But the mind isn't the last word, much as we respect it. The last word is what you must deeply FEEL. That is the final statement of the instinct within you for the right thing, the right way of acting.

You can contradict and deny the decisions of your mind and you will not suffer. But if you deny your proper instinct, then you suffer and regret for the rest of your days.

I know that. I've tried it out. I've had a hunch and rejected it and I've lived to be sorry. I've had a hunch and followed it—and even though the immediate result seemed disastrous, I have had no regret.

That instinct within us is usually right; it seeks the truth and leads on to perfection. I cannot find the exact words to describe it. I can only fumble around and approach it more or less vaguely. But I know it is there—like a little blue bird's egg in a hidden nest, like a quietly burning candle on a dim altar. And I know it is right . . . for me . . . for every body.

THE OPPORTUNITY TO GET IT OVER WITH

Memorandum of Opinion Sent to Allies Is Viewed as Important Parley Factor

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—There is every indication that the United States government has sent through diplomatic channels to both the governments of Russia and Great Britain an informal memorandum analyzing American public opinion with respect to inter-Allied problems of major importance.

Crowley pointed out that "adequate private resources" exist for this purpose in the commercial banks and that there is no need for government either to make loans directly to business or to guarantee commercial bank loans through the Federal Reserve system. He says that such a policy would tend to undermine the principle of banking as a definitely private function. ## Social Security Fund Fears Are Called Unfounded

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 25.—We hear much from Washington about "the need for more manpower" and hear even more from labor about the need for higher wages. Perhaps both are needed, but government officials and labor leaders are making a big mistake to do so much talking about it. Why? Here is my answer: Such talk is driving employers to install more and more labor-saving machines and processes which may add chaos to confusion after the war.

Big Pay Envelope Leads Let me explain: Readers are continually asking the reason for the deductions on their pay envelopes. One came in to me this morning from a single person getting $30 per week with four pay envelope deductions:

One per cent for social security payments to the federal fund. Unemployment insurance (collected from employees in only a few states but from employers in all)

Thirteen and seven-tenths for Income Taxes

Sixteen and two-thirds for United States savings bond purchases.

All of these took about ten dollars out of his pay envelope. The last item was partly voluntary and this bond purchase can be redeemed at any time but the other three are compulsory and make big leaks in all pay envelopes.

One Definitely Gone Of the three compulsory deductions to your pay, the income tax money or "saving it up" as it is your contribution to the war and surely it is very small compared to what our boys in the service are paying in blood and sweat. The Social Security payment is to give you "ten to fifty-six dollars" per month (depending on years of employment) when you get too old to work, plus half worker's benefit for wife when she is 65 years of age; while the unemployment insurance is to give you from two to thirty dollars a week, depending upon the state in which you reside for the first weeks of your next period of unemployment to be caused by the labor saving machines and processes which employers are now being forced to install.

Uncle Sam's Credit Good Because some reports claim that Uncle Sam is spending your Social Security payments for current expenses instead of investing the money or "saving it up" as an insurance company would do, some people are fearful. They are afraid that when they get old or become unemployed, Uncle Sam or the state will not have the money "in reserve" to pay the promised benefits. Don't let any insurance salesman scare you with such foolish talk. The United States Treasury is investing your weekly payments in government bonds or their equivalent which is the very best investment any insurance company ever made with your money.

When you deposit money in a savings bank the bank does not let our money in its vault and wait until you want to draw it out. The bank loans it to some one to build a house or do something else, —or the bank itself may use it to buy government bonds! In this case the money is being treated just the same as your Social Security money is being treated. As to how much your Social Security money will buy—in food, clothing and shelter—when you get old is another question. This depends upon how long the war lasts and the postwar inflation. There, however, is nothing to fear from the argument that "the federal government has no reserve funds" for you.

Both Funds Needed One more thing:—Because the present Social Security rate of one per cent now provides "more than enough money" to meet all requirements, it probably, nevertheless, should be increased immediately after the war to two per cent. This would be according to the advice of expert insurance statistical actuaries. The fact that the states now have a reserve of five billion dollars for unemployment, etc., is no reason why we should suspend payments to the federal fund. Unless our school committees now wake up to prevent postwar unemployment, state unemployment funds may be insufficient to take care of you during the next depression!

Clothing Control Steps by OPA Are Viewed As Timely

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Behind the Bowles-Krug project to curb garment prices is a chaotic condition which every woman knows.

Dress seekers in one department store here lately have been standing around waiting in the mornings for the daily stock allotments to come in and then have worked on them as in the old days of bargain store rushes.

Messrs. Krug and Bowles announced they proposed to start cutting prices six or seven percent but in a situation like this one price seems to be unimportant to either consumer or seller. Money swells the ladies' pocketbooks on the one hand and an efficient, effective standard of dress prices is difficult to fix or enforce on the other.

The announcement said the trouble is cheaper garments are no longer being produced, but from the standpoint of the shopper in the stores it looks more like the cheaper dresses are just being sold as higher-priced dresses, while the top standard is the one which has disappeared.

Price Jump Underestimated But here for the first important occasion, the OPA is moving into the aspect of correcting the gradual but deep decline in quality of goods, which has been protested so frequently in this column the past few weeks. The OPA figures (Bureau of Labor Statistics) in this instance show the price of clothing has increased only eleven per cent in the last eighteen months.

Most shoppers will contend that when the decline in quality of material offered is considered, as a price increase (which it really is) then the price of clothing jumped several times eleven per cent.

Also the general cost of living, according to OPA statistics, has risen only one per cent in the same eighteen months. Food prices are supposed to have gone down and rents held stable.

This will be difficult for any consumer in my neighborhood to understand, when he measures the similar declines in size and quality of many goods, where standard quality has disappeared (food, cigarettes, liquor, etc.). Standard measures have been lost (in restaurants, for example, where the soup cup may be only half or three quarters filled and one smaller cup of coffee given for the prices formerly charged for a full bowl and as many large cups as you want.)

Further Steps Planned Now to meet this same condition in clothing, OPA proposes to get, first, a hand on the raw materials outlets through the War Production Board, and thus force the manufacturer to make the cheaper dress goods, then to check directly on deterioration in quality of garments and also move to reduce actual price increases.

This much was announced, but more specifically also in the next few months OPA expects to introduce these following related steps: Textiles will be channeled into various lines and types of manufacturing, manufacturers will be required to return to the same standard of goods they were producing two years ago; most clothing will carry tags giving OPA legal ceiling prices and a firmer control of prices will be taken at all points in manufacturing from the raw material to the retail sale.

Substantial Saving Expected OPA thinks this program will at least prevent an expected fifteen percent increase in prices during 1945. They expect industry profits may be reduced somewhat by the innovations but will still remain higher than in peacetime and consumers will save at least $600,000 a year.

Unfavorable comment, however, is coming from industry where restrictions already in effect are considered excessive, allowing much profit to some and little profit to others, under the burdens of heavy war taxation.

FM—Frequency Modulation: Future Miracle of Radio

By INES VILA MASIA
Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK — It is discussed enthusiastically in radio stations. Its vast potentialities are weighed, approved and applauded by the largest of our national advertisers. It is accepted as an accomplished fact by our nine present-day television stations.

It is looked upon as less than a miracle by musicians, singers and symphony conductors. It is viewed with respectful awe by thousands of mechanical workers and technicians. It is the "coming thing" today. Tomorrow it will be an accomplished fact in millions of American homes.

It is FM-frequency modulation. But to the average man, harried by the daily demands of his business, frequency modulation is an almost totally unknown quantity. Asked about it, he'll probably wrinkle his brow and say, thoughtfully:

"Sure. Think I read something about it the other day. Has something to do with radio, I think. Something about frequencies. Pretty technical stuff. You got any idea what it's all about?"

Well, sir, you're right on both counts. It does have something to do with frequencies and it's plenty darned complicated and technical, too. We'll freely admit right now. But it's a lot more important than just the dry statement of fact. You see, frequency modulation is something you have created! Now, don't look so surprised; it's true.

For years, men and women all over the country, gifted—or, if you prefer, afflicted—with a sensitive ear, have raised a lousy beef against the "canned" music served them on their daily radio programs.

Radio Isn't Perfect
It has been a perfectly logical, completely justified beef, too, since anyone who is not totally tone deaf will admit that radio, as we know it today, is incapable of reproducing the finer musical nuances of, let us say, a symphonic arrangement.

Present-day radio broadcasting has reached a high stage of near perfection. It is only fair to give credit where credit is due and admit that radio, grandly accepting the challenge of a full day's schedule under war-time restrictions and "vadaiches," has done and is doing a top-notch job. But the fact remains that there is still room for improvement.

Frequency modulation is that improvement. Better get used to hearing it referred to by its abbreviated trade name of FM. That's the way you'll be tagging it in the near future when you're discussing it, and its sister art, television, with your friends.

The best and clearest definition of FM is to be found in a book on television, written by a man named (patriotically enough!) Robert E. Lee. He puts it into a very witty nutshell with the explanation that "FM is extremely high fidelity sound, virtually noise free."

When FM comes into your home—and it is on the way even as these words go to press—it will bring you a clear, tone-perfect reception. If you're listening to a large orchestra you'll be able to distinguish the smallest minor instrument.

WABC-FM—A view of Columbia Broadcasting System's FM transmitter.

If you're tuned in to a play, or a speaker, you'll hear each syllable as distinctly as though the person speaking were in the same room with you. Your set will be, at last, free of scratches, buzzes, and those weird sobbing noises that send you crawling behind the furniture in an effort to correct him. Concerning just what is apt to happen when and if FM connects with the Voice, we prefer to make no prediction.

Yes, you and millions of other Americans like you, have demanded this thing, this newest miracle of an age of thought-staggering inventions. And even as you go about your daily tasks, some of the finest brains in the world are hard at work to bring it to you, to see that you get the thing you've said you wanted.

Prosperity Factor
James L. Fly, recent chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, stated in an address in Chicago that "FM and television, the two great ventures which lie ahead, ensure that broadcasting will do its share to see that the postwar era is one of expansion and prosperity rather than contraction and depression."

Realizing that FM was bound to create jobs for many returning veterans, Chairman Fly further stated that "the future of FM seems assured." He went on to say that "5,000,000 FM receivers will be marketed within a year after the cessation of hostilities."

American have a word for actions such as that; we call it delivering the goods. You asked for it, brother—it's on the way!

Now that you've heard a little of what the Federal Communications Commission thinks of FM, perhaps you'd like to know how the big networks feel about it? Well, the Columbia Broadcasting System, for one, feels fine about it.

Paul Kersten, who holds the post of vice president of CBS, in a recent statement to the FCC said that this country should have between four and five thousand FM stations, adding that all should have equal power and all should use comparable wave lengths.

Ever a pioneer in the radio field, CBS's Paul Kersten went on to speak of the importance of planning, not only for the four or five thousand stations already mentioned, but for ten national networks as well. I don't know just exactly what Kersten, or the other CBS executives, would call this sort of thing. The early pioneers called it blazing a trail.

Many Stations Operating
Nor is this all a remote possibility obscured in the haze of the future. You have station KOZY of Kansas City right now—a station proudly calling itself your "FM Station." You have also the Radio Engineering Laboratories of Long Island City, L. I., which claim the distinction of installing the first FM transmitter to be put into active service. And there are others, too numerous to mention, every one of them doing outstanding programs, progressive work.

So, all right, you say, you're delighted at the new service about to be offered you; you're anxious to hear it and judge for yourself. How soon will that be? That will be shortly after the war's end—from, say, a year to 18 months—when present war-time "freezes" have been thawed out and the big manufacturers are ready to go into full production. Believe me, they're raring to go now!

And that, on a slightly oversized thumb nail, is a sketch of FM—the future miracle that will be yours

John Tressler, Jr. Is Promoted to Technical Sergeant

John Tressler, Jr., 23, who has served in the South Pacific theater for the past two years as a radio-man with an anti-aircraft division, has been promoted to technical sergeant, according to word received recently by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tressler, 513 Louisiana avenue.

Tech. Sgt. Tressler, a graduate of Fort Hill high school, enlisted in the army in October, 1940, and received training at Fort Bliss, Tex. In January, 1941, he went to Bermuda, where he was stationed until returning to this country in February, 1942.

After spending four months at Fort Bliss, Tech. Sgt. Tressler sailed for Australia in June, 1942, and was transferred to New Guinea a few months later.

Assistant Farm Agent To Attend Conference

Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent, will attend a training conference in College Park from Monday through Wednesday of next week. The conference has been called by Dr. T. B. Symons, director of the University of Maryland extension service.

Topics to be discussed will include the building of county 4-H programs and the work of 4-H clubs in wartime. Steger said. Speakers will include county farm agents, field agents of the federal department of Agriculture, and representatives of Girls' and boys' clubs throughout the state.

of the high percentages they achieved in war bond sales during the Sixth War Loan drive.

Six other department posts qualified for the honor.

Bombers will be named after the following posts in this district: Fort Cumberland No. 13, $504,200 in bond sales; Maryland Post No. 24, Frostburg, $118,000; James P. Love Post, Lonaconing, $59,293.50; Memorial Post No. 159, Mt. Savage, $11,300.

An automobile record was set in 1906, when L. K. Whitman drove an air-cooled car from New York to San Francisco in fifteen days, two hours, fifteen minutes.

RIDGELEY CORPORAL WINS HIGH HONOR

FIFTEENTH AAF IN ITALY — Cpl. Robert J. Chase, 29, ordnance-man, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Chase of 197 Main street, Ridgeley, West Virginia, has recently been authorized to wear the Distinguished Unit badge. A graduate of Ridgeley high in 1931, he was a textile worker for the Celanese corporation of America at Anacostia, Maryland, prior to his entry into the service on December 26, 1942. He has been overseas since February of 1944.

The award was made by Brigadier General Charles F. Born, chief of staff of the Fifteenth air force, to the Four Hundred Sixty-fifth Bombardment Group for its outstanding performance on a mission against the Floridsdorf oil refinery at Vienna, Austria, on July 8, 1944.

At that time, the Fifteenth air force group commanded by Col. Charles A. Clark, Jr., of San Antonio, Texas, was in the midst of a concentrated drive to knock out vital German oil centers. The Floridsdorf refinery was feeding a considerable amount of oil and gas to the Nazi Wehrmacht and Luftwaffe. The Four Hundred Sixty-fifth bombers battled their way through a savage enemy flak barrage to launch a devastating attack upon the target. Their bombs scored direct hits on many units of the refinery.

"Forty to fifty enemy planes viciously attacked the formation," the citation reads in part. "In a running fight which lasted for twenty minutes, the group succeeded in driving off the enemy fighters, after destroying seven and damaging others. Later reconnaissance showed that as a result of this attack, the Floridsdorf area was rendered non-operational at a time when the European War was approaching a critical stage."

Deaths from starvation in Bengal province alone were estimated at 100,000 a week during the 1943 famine in India.

An abbreviated naturalization process was provided in 1942 for aliens serving in the United States armed forces.

Postal Notes To Become Effective February 1

The postal note, a new and inexpensive type of money order, will be used at all post offices, starting February 1, according to information received from the Post Office department, Washington.

The postal note will simplify methods of sale and accounting. It allows for the sending of money not exceeding $10, through the mails for a uniform fee of five cents. Applications, as are used in making out regular money orders, are not necessary. The sender fills out the name of the payee on the note, to which the clerk has affixed the correct amount in stamps. The purchaser detaches his record stub and mails the postal note, which is a pre-punched calculating card form.

Miss Compton Is Honored at Dinner Given by Teachers

Tribute Is Paid to Work of Assistant Superintendent of Schools

Tribute was paid to the work of Miss Lillian C. Compton, assistant county superintendent of schools, at a dinner in her honor held yesterday evening at the Al Ghan Shrine Country Club by the Elementary Principals' Association of Allegany County.

Nearly 170 persons, including representatives from county schools and state education officials from Baltimore, attended the dinner in honor of Miss Compton, who will assume her duties as acting president of Frostburg State Teachers college February 1.

Miss Dorothy Shires, president of the association, acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers. They included Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools; Miss Winifred Greene, county supervisor; Miss Agnes Carroll, principal of the East Side school; Miss Levin Daniel, Frostburg, a teacher in the fifth grade at the LaVay school; Miss Anona Brehany, a teacher in the Virginia Avenue school; and Miss Margaret King, a primary teacher in the Pennsylvania avenue school.

Skits Are Presented
Among the Baltimore officials who gave brief talks were Miss Theresa Wederfelt, president of Towson State Teachers college; Miss Grace Alder, state supervisor of elementary schools; Miss Elizabeth Amery, head of the home economics department for the state of Maryland; and David Zimmerman, state supervisor of special education.

Several skits dramatizing episodes in Miss Compton's life were presented by a committee including Miss Shires, Miss Anne Tennant, principal of the Gephart school; Miss Sarah Wright, principal of the Corvill school; Miss Althea Fuller, principal of the Mt. Royal school; and Earl Brain, principal of Beall elementary school, Frostburg.

Gifts were presented to Miss Compton by Miss Isabel Screen, principal of the Johnson Heights school; The Ferrone trio, Cresapton, played musical selections during the dinner; and a cappella choir of Fort Hill high school, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Seebie, presented a program of songs when the dinner ended.

Several Honor Guests
Guests of the occasion included John L. Dunkle, retiring president of Frostburg State Teachers college; Edgar Dashiell, president of the county board of education; Miss Mildred Willison, supervising teacher for the county board; Arthur G. Ramey, county director of pupil personnel; Miss Jane Botford, a county supervising teacher; and Tasker G. Lowndes.

Miss Mabel Myers, a teacher in the Beall elementary school, led the invocation. The table decorations were in blue and yellow, with the color motif carried out in the flowers, candles and place cards.

Great Air Base

were being pounded by American artillery. Although the Sixth army was scoring its greatest gains in its power drive towards Manila, it still was doing its heaviest fighting north and east of Lingayen, where the Japanese were contesting every inch of ground against Maj. Gen. P. Swift's First corps.

While the Forty-third division and the One Hundred Fifty-eighth combat team fought into the fourteenth day for Rosario, on the road to the summer capital of the Philippines at Baguio, the Twenty-fifth division had one of the toughest fights of the Luzon campaign on Wednesday at San Manuel, to the southeast.

Occupy Part of Town
There, after a daylong slugging match with tanks, artillery and infantry, the Americans still were able to claim only partial occupation of the town.

The heavily outnumbered and outgunned enemy slowly was being blasted from dugouts. Five miles south of Clark field, advance units reached the highway junction of Angeles while other elements penetrated to Magalang, another road hub ten miles east of the big airbase.

This meant the Americans were on parallel highways which converge fifteen miles to the south at the important city of San Fernando, top of a narrow funnel between swamplands on the route to Manila.

Desperate Nazi

In the shattered remnant of the Ardennes salient, the United States Third Army was bounding the Germans back into the Siegfried line, not more than five and a half miles away in Northern Luxembourg.

The United States First Army attacked in near zero weather and pushed more than a mile east and south of St. Vith, where the Americans were less than three miles from the German border. Nowhere did the First have more than seven miles to go in Belgium before reaching the frontier.

Fighterbombers pounding home the attack on the retreating enemy for the third day, destroyed fifty-two tanks and armored vehicles and damaged fifty-eight others, and knocked out 679 motor vehicles and damaged 515 others.

Two Young Women To Leave Wednesday For WAC Training

Two young women from the Cumberland area who were sworn into the WAC in Hagerstown recently will report to Baltimore next Wednesday en route to Fort Des Moines, Ia., where they will begin their basic training. Sgt. Ruth Baker, local WAC recruiter, announced yesterday.

Miss Wanda Lee Dyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dyer, 106 Potomac street, was sworn into the WAC January 3, her twentieth birthday. A former student at Port Hill high school, she was employed at the Army market in North Centre street prior to her enlistment. A sister, Sgt. Elizabeth Dyer Gerard, who enlisted in the WAC February 3, 1943, is serving as a radio operator at Topeka, Kans. Sgt. Gerard is the wife of Lt. Harold Wheeler Gerard, son of Mrs. Nettie Gerard, 139 Humboldt street.

The second young woman who will report to Baltimore Wednesday is Mrs. Anna Lee O'Grince, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes, Mt. Savage. A former employee at the Kelly-Springfield plant, Mrs. O'Grince was sworn into the WAC at Hagerstown January 9, three days after her twentieth birthday.

Her husband is Louis O'Grince, now serving overseas with the merchant marine. A brother, Earl R. O'Grince, is a seaman in the navy overseas. Mrs. O'Grince will become a medical technician in the WAC when she completes her basic training at Fort Des Moines.

Sgt. Baker said yesterday that all WAC recruits will be sent to Fort Des Moines from now on, since basic training classes at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., will be discontinued after February 7.

ANDERSON BROTHERS MEET CUMBERLANDERS

Serving both in the European and Asiatic theaters of war the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Anderson, 822 Greene street, are still meeting their friends from Cumberland according to word received here earlier this week.

Cpl. Richard Anderson, who arrived overseas recently with a tank battalion, met an old friend and former Cumberlander, Derek Walton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Walton, on the ship. Walton is a member of the merchant seaman on the American Export Line. The trip over, he wrote, "was uneventful."

While hospitalized for three weeks during the Christmas holidays with malaria, Cpl. Harry S. Anderson was surprised to find that Vivian Damaris, a graduate nurse of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, was serving as a Red Cross nurse in the same hospital. Cpl. Anderson left the states January 25, 1944 and has been serving with an ordnance company in Assam, India.

A third son, Sgt. Fred H. Anderson, transferred to a hospital in England, was in the air force for the past two and one half years. His cousin, Pvt. Lester Stagers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stagers of Keyser, W. Va., who was wounded in action with the First army December 17, receiving a shrapnel wound in the leg, was transferred to a hospital in England, and knowing that Sgt. Anderson was over there had the Red Cross contact him and arrange a visit. Sgt. Anderson wrote his parents that his cousin was greatly improved and would soon be back in service, but that they had a grand time and he could not say how much he enjoyed hearing all about the family and hometown friends.

Completing the coverage of battle fronts, Thomas L. Rudd, flight officer of a C-47, and husband of Mrs. Kay Anderson Rudd, has arrived in North Africa, his wife was notified recently. She is residing with her parents for the duration.

Flier Who Cut

On one occasion he took off from the Mexico Farms airport for the air field at Pinto to salvage the wing parts of a plane involved in a fatal crash at the latter place. In the take-off he broke the landing gear but through sheer ingenuity as a daring pilot he managed to land his ship at Pinto with a minimum of shaking up for himself and his two passengers, thus avoiding tragedy at the same time.

Lt. Landis always seemed to get a kick out of getting into "jams." His friends still laugh about the time "Torque" unloaded streams of toilet tissue over the west side of town but many of those who witnessed the show didn't think it so funny.

Served with Marines
"Torque" enlisted in the United States Marines in 1920 for a three-year hitch and while in the service he had a narrow escape from death when his two-motored Martin Bomber made a forced landing in the Chesapeake bay.

Lt. Landis gained the nickname "Torque" as a youngster. He was tagged "Tor" by his friends because he was a turtle fancier and at one time he gathered so many he had a yard full. Later, however, his nickname became "Torque."

He is the son of Mrs. Bessie Landis, who is now spending some time at the home of her daughter in Wilmington, Del. Mrs. Landis and the late Mayor Irvine went to school together. "Your mother is a fine lady," Irvine once told the stunt flier, "but you are a dare-devil."

Arthur W. Johnson, Jr., entered the army on Dec. 2, 1943 and sailed for overseas duty last June. He fought with an infantry outfit of the Seventh army. He has two brothers in the service, Sgt. Van L. Johnson, in England, and Joseph R. Johnson, GM. 3-C, with the Pacific fleet.

Pvt. Paul McFarland, Ridgeley, W. Va., husband of Mrs. Margaret Ravenscroft McFarland, reported missing in Belgium since Jan. 5. Entering the army last June Pvt. McFarland trained at Camp Blanding, Fla., and after spending a furlough at his home was sent overseas late in November. His mother lives at Garrett, Pa.

The total water consumption in United States Army camps has been estimated roughly at about that of the state of Michigan.

Riley Explains What Draft of Nurses Means

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—The prospective drafting of nurses for military service and the resulting shortage of registered graduate nurses necessitate more than ever before a public understanding of public health nursing and its responsibilities to civilians. Dr. Robert H. Riley said today.

In an announcement urging participation tomorrow in National Public Health Nursing day, the first such observance in this country, the director of the state department of health asked Marylanders to take the day seriously and "attempt to become better acquainted with their local health nursing programs."

Meanwhile, in an interview on the public health situation in Maryland, Miss Helen L. Fisk, R. N., nurse instructor for the state health department, disclosed that there were 133 public health nurses and sixteen vacancies in the twenty-three Maryland counties.

The recommended number of nurses generally one per every 5,000 population. Miss Fisk continued, and the county average in Maryland is one for every 10,000. Because of the needs of the armed forces, however, the department is not creating new nursing positions and is maintaining its nursing staffs at the minimum allowed for protection, she explained.

Railroads Place Embargo on Freight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Association of American Railroads today placed an embargo on consignment of all except war freight to, through and within the area east and south of the Great Lakes.

The embargo was issued at the direction of the Office of Defense Transportation to alleviate a traffic jam caused by continued blizzards and exceptionally heavy snowfall in the affected area. It becomes effective at 12:01 a. m., eastern war time, Saturday, Jan. 27, and will continue until 12:01 a. m., Tuesday, Jan. 30.

County Boards

The "home rule" vessels are listing badly, but it isn't time to abandon ship—yet. That was the substance of opinion expressed today by protagonists of the three controversial measures now before the Senate, after the proposals had been soundly shelved by county commissioners from every section of the state.

Their position, expressed by a Senate leader who declined to be quoted by name, was that "the county commissioners, after all, don't necessarily speak for the people."

"I still think the measures have a good chance of passing the Senate, and they definitely aren't going to be killed or allowed to die in committee without a fight."

The opponents—and they were legion—had a different version. To them it was definitely time to scuttle ship.

"It was the most spontaneous, unrehearsed and yet convincing expression of opinion I have ever heard here," said Speaker John S. White, (D-Prince George's), who has openly opposed the measures since they first were brought before the Legislative Council last year.

"From the Alleghenies of Garrett and Allegany counties to the Atlantic ocean, they were against it—practically unanimously."

"We don't need it, we don't want it, things are all right as they are now, leave us alone—that's what they said."

His sentiments were exultantly echoed by other opponents among the legislators.

Kimble's Views
"How could the Senate vote it through to the House, when senators heard today for themselves what their own people think of it," demanded Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany).

Proponents of amending the measure, or substituting new ones, for the proposals.

Several of the county commissioners' boards would be satisfied with minor revisions of the measures, they held.

There was speculation about chances of reviving the old Brice proposal—named after ex-Senate President Arthur H. Brice—which would vest local lawmaking powers in a county legislative body composed of commissioners, General Assembly representatives and other officials.

One revision which was suggested was removal of the clause which would automatically repeal all public local and general laws inconsistent with the home rule legislation.

Judicial Proceedings committee Chairman Senator Joseph R. Byrnes, (D-Balto-5th) said no further hearings were contemplated and expressed surprise that no civic or professional organizations were represented today.

Wilson Predicts Meat Shortage

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 25 (AP)—A meat shortage that promised to affect consumers for some time to come was predicted today by Dr. B. Wilson, agricultural statistician for the Maryland Crop Reporting Service.

The fall supply of pigs is about thirty-three per cent below the 1943 crop and the total number for 1944 is 390,000, twenty per cent less than in 1943, Wilson declared.

He added that the shortage of cattle products may be felt acutely for an even longer period, pointing out that although calf slaughter for last year will be about fifty per cent above that for the previous year, these calves ordinarily would be withheld from the market until next year.

Wallace Scores

make in RFC policy, Wallace said that question from Senator McClellan (D-Ark) was one that President Roosevelt would describe as "very iffy."

Wallace's first public appearance since his vice presidential term expired drew as big an audience as jammed the caucus room yesterday to hear the deposed Jones.

Wallace implied sharp criticism of Jones when he said the "real issue" of the controversy over his corner under Nazi pressure tends to confirm that expectation.

With the Saar basin phase of the Anglo-American winter offensive abandoned when the Third army was rushed northward to aid First army comrades, operations in the Karlsruhe corner lost their strategic significance and much of their tactical importance.

Seventh Shortens Line
To meet the German threat to Strasbourg the Seventh army has been pulled back to shortened and more easily defended positions out of the tip of the former Karlsruhe corner. There is no indication that it has been reinforced in any considerable strength by American troops released from the Belgian bulge theater.

That is a significant circumstance. It implies that General Eisenhower was marshaling his forces elsewhere for major offensive operations even before the Russian steam-roller started across Poland.

It is doubly important now that Eisenhower's armies strike without delay to exploit deepening Nazi disasters in the east. Weather conditions in the west impede troop movements over snow clogged roads, but do not forbid mass transfers. The chance to put an end to organized resistance in Germany and reduce the heavy casualties piled up in battle involves too certain a doubt that Eisenhower's orders and the directives flowing to that front from the Anglo-American joint chiefs of staff committee in Washington are centered on putting the final breaking strain on Germany and doing it now.

Plumbing is the science of getting water where it is wanted and how it is wanted, and then getting it away again.

Warehouse Burns

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 25 (AP)—A three-story brick furniture warehouse owned by Meyers-Berkson, retail dealers, in downtown Hagerstown was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin today, only the rear walls remaining standing.

Nazi Resistance Slows Drive of Russian Forces

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Associated Press War Analyst

Stiffening Nazi resistance in the Poznan sector, last defensive redoubt on Polish soil in German hands, appeared to be slowing the Russian advance on Berlin east along the shortest route but elsewhere on the eastern front there were ominous new developments for the foe.

Three primary objectives of overall Russian strategy that has guided the massive Red army sweep across the frozen Polish plains have been achieved.

Opportunity for Allies
In the light of this dark and incomplete picture of Germany's plight in the east, it is clear that opportunity is knocking for the United Nations Allies. The change that organized resistance in Germany can be brought to an end with weeks instead of months cannot be ruled out by caution, nor is it possible that Allied supreme headquarters in the west is not straining every nerve to start rolling eastward to meet the Russian flood tide attack.

Neutral press reports from Berlin say Nazi military staffs expect it and withdrawal of the American Seventh army in the Karlsruhe corner under Nazi pressure tends to confirm that expectation.

Heavy Trace of Snow Falls; Temperature Here Is 16 Degrees

Cumberland was covered by a heavy trace of snow last night as the result of a light but steady snowfall that started about 9 p. m. and continued for more than an hour. At midnight it was snowing lightly once more.

Although strong winds of Wednesday night abated yesterday morning, it remained cold here with the temperature down to sixteen degrees at midnight. Yesterday's minimum temperature was ten degrees.

Snow also was reported last night at Deal, Pa., and Thomas, W. Va. It was eight degrees and snowing at Deal at midnight and two inches of new snow had been recorded at that time.

At Thomas, two inches of snow fell last night. The temperature there was eighteen degrees and it was cloudy.

WINNER ROAD HOME IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

The home of Harry L. Dean, 420 Winner road, was badly damaged yesterday morning shortly after 9 o'clock by fire when an overheated flue fired a wooden partition and swept through the kitchen and two downstairs rooms of the home.

Firemen, who made no estimate of the damage, said that several other rooms of the home were damaged by water and that most of the furniture and clothing in the home was damaged.

Mrs. Hilda Dean and her infant daughter, who were at home when the fire broke out, escaped injury.

East Side fire company, which arrived at the home at 9:30 a. m., had the fire under control by 10:47 a. m. Both Mrs. Dean and a passer-by, who saw smoke coming from the home, turned in alarms.

This is the fourth time in the last year that misfortune has struck Dean and his family. His father died last summer, his mother passed away only several months ago, and Mrs. Dean's brother, Pvt. Kenneth M. Taylor, of Romney, was killed in action in Italy on July 25, 1944.

Dean is well-known in athletic circles in this section and has played softball and basketball on several strong teams in recent years. He is employed as a mechanic at the Astor Cab Company garage.

Finals in Fort Hill Speaking Contests Scheduled March 20

Thirty dollars in cash prizes will be awarded in the extemporaneous speaking contests for seniors and juniors at Fort Hill high school, the finals of which will be held March 20.

Students may use four subjects in the speaking tests, namely, "Reconversion—the Job Ahead," "How Can Cumberland Abate the Smoke Nuisance?" "The Role of Education in Solving World Problems," and "Religion's Place in the World."

Three-minute talks will be held February 14, 15 and 16 and from the various groups participating an average of two speakers will be selected to take part in a preliminary contest March 5 and 6, which will be held after school hours. At that time a five-minute talk will be made on one of the forty sub-topics. In the finals students will talk ten minutes.

Prizes to be presented from the standpoint of poise, organization of material and speaking voice will be $15, first; $10, second, and $5, third.

West Virginians To Get Less Liquor

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 25 (AP)—Despite the distillers' second monthly "holiday" since the war began, the State Liquor Control commission has announced that West Virginians' allotment of hard liquor will be decreased from two to one quart during February.

Commission officials explained that stocks now on hand had fallen to "very low" levels and supplies in sight were insufficient to honor the usual two coupons during the coming ration period.

Other wet goods, including ginners, cordials and the like, apparently will continue to be available in sufficient quantity.

Colder Weather Probable Today

[By The Associated Press]
The sections of Maryland lying east of the Alleghenies, their coldest day this winter behind, prepared last (Thursday) night for even lower temperatures, but few were expected to match the sub-zero marks hung up in the state's western highlands.

Meteorologist Joseph H. Bily, Jr., of Baltimore's United States Weather Bureau said there would be a drop of at least one or two degrees in the Metropolitan area from last night's low marks of eight to eleven degrees above zero.

Coldest reported spot in the state was Braddock Heights, near Frederick, where the reading was six below zero. Others included four below at Big Savage mountain, Garrett county, and in Frederick; two below at Unionville; two above at Frostburg; ten above at Cumberland; and twelve above at Salisbury and Snow Hill, both on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

Weather in Nearby States

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA: Cloudy, not quite so cold; occasional snow; Saturday cloudy and cold with snow flurries.

WEST VIRGINIA: Cloudy with occasional snow in north and rain or snow and colder south portion; Saturday cloudy and cold with snow flurries.

INSIDE A VOLCANO

By ALBERT NOEL
AP Newsfeatures

MEXICO CITY — The first descent ever made into a volcano in eruption is believed to have been made by two Mexican mountain climbers who made their way inside the smoking crater of rootin' tootin' Paricutin, Mexico's newest and most active volcano.

A second venture inside the crater was made later by three men and two women, all members of the Club de Exploraciones de Mexico. On this second trip, a camera was taken along and photographs of the interior of the crater were brought back together with a picture of a Mexican flag the party planted at the point of its furthest penetration.

Paricutin was born on Feb. 20, 1943, after a series of localized earthquakes on a level plain surrounded by high mountains about 175 miles west of Mexico City. It is in the midst of a volcanic zone extending from the volcanic Orizaba on the east (highest peak in Mexico, 18,564 feet) to that of Colima near the Pacific coast (14,400 feet).

Close about Paricutin are a number of extinct volcanoes. Colima, forty miles west, has been in mild eruption for a long time, emitting mostly flame which can be seen from long distances at night.

A Violent Baby
Even in infancy, Paricutin was violent. It has risen steadily 1,900 feet from its level plain and its molten lava has completely buried two good-sized towns (Paricutin and Panagariutiro) and several hamlets in the state of Michoacan.

It has two craters. The original one at the top of the cone throws out dense smoke, flame and heavy white-hot stones and sand at intervals of ten to fifteen seconds. A more recent crater on the south side of the base pours out a stream of molten lava 120 feet wide and thirty-five feet deep moving at the rate of about fifteen feet a second and spreading out as it advances.

Both craters offer a fine spectacle at night, when their red glow shows them up in the darkness.

The first ascent ever made to the crater of Paricutin is claimed by Honorato Gonzalez Castro, of Mexico City, and Carlos Monroy, both vigorous young men who have climbed to the peaks of some of Mexico's highest mountains. Gonzalez and Monroy say they toiled up the lava slopes and into Paricutin's top crater last July 23.

On Aug. 23 a second exploration of the crater is said to have been made by Gonzalez Castro, accompanied by Ezequiel del Olmo, Leopoldo Diaz Gonzalez and Senoritas Georgina Castro and Maria Rodriguez, all members of the Club de Exploraciones de Mexico.

Gonzalez Castro said that members of another Mexico City mountain climbers' club the "Peteletes," entered into the crater some time last August. He did not know the exact date, but declared he had seen photographs taken by them which he recognized to be authentic.

Just Be Careful
Despite the fact that no one else to his knowledge has attempted to enter the crater, Gonzalez Castro said he did not think the feat "very dangerous, if one is careful." The heat of the deep sand in the crater keeps them out of their path, one can go hard to bear, he said, and the tremors make one think the whole crater would cave in or be shot into the air at any minute.

"Once at the edge of the crater," Gonzalez said, "one has to wait awhile to see which way the white-hot stones and sand are falling from several large holes through which they are blown high into the air. The direction of the stones and sand, which are shot up obliquely, varies gradually, and to get under them would spell death. If one keeps out of their path, one can go through blistering heat almost to the holes from which they are projected."

The trip to Paricutin is made from Mexico by train to Uruapan. From there one takes a car to the place where the village of Angagua existed before being covered over with molten lava from the volcano. From this spot one plows laboriously for about four hours through deep, loose and very hot sand, under which is still hotter lava, to the base of the volcano.

cutin is not dangerous," Gonzalez said, "but it is rendered fatiguing by the intense heat and the depth of the loose sand, in which one slides backward a part of every step that is taken."

"After a few minutes in the top crater, one is almost as black as a chimney sweep from the dense smoke thrown up through the holes in the concave surface."

England has a postwar reforestation program which will provide full employment for 50,000 men.

CHINESE BOY WITH AMERICAN "UNCLES"

AN ADVANCED CHINA AIR BASE—The Chinese boy perched on the hood of a jeep at a base of the Chinese-American Composite Wing of the Fourteenth Air Force answers to the name of "Snow Ball." He's virtually been adopted by the two soldiers in the picture, Sgt. Herman W. Wynn, R. D. 3, Richmond, Va., and Sgt. William W. Stott, (extreme right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Stott, Sr., Sand Spring, Frostburg. At the left is "Snow Ball's" father, Liu Kwan Lang, a cook at the American base. Sgt. Wynn and Sgt. Stott, both veterans of a year's overseas service, have clothed and cared for their little Chinese friend several months, outfitting him in American-styled clothes. At the same time, the 7-year-old Chinese boy is being taught to speak English by soldiers. Sgt. Stott, 26, was a contract electrician in Cumberland, Md., before he entered the army, in 1940. He is the husband of the former Miss Madeline Odaker, who now lives on Centre street in Cumberland, with her 9-year-old son. He has a brother, Pfc. Layton Stott, serving in England.

Nikep Woman Is Taken by Death; All since July

Mrs. Catherine Nolan McKenzie Was Native of Lonaconing

By MARIE MERRBACH
LONAONING, Jan. 25—Mrs. Catherine Marie (Nolan) McKenzie, wife of Lawrence McKenzie, died Wednesday night at 10:40 p. m. at her home in Nikep. She had been ill since July.

She was a native of Detroit, Michigan, the daughter of the late Daniel and Catherine Naughton. She was a member of the St. Gabriel's Catholic church, Barton.

Besides her husband, she is survived by ten children, Aloysius McKenzie, Luke, Md.; Mrs. Catherine McKee, McCole; Joseph McKenzie, McCole; Mary Timney, Baltimore; Mrs. Josephine Newhouse, at home; Genevieve Poland, at home; Seaman First Class Edward Shworth McKenzie, San Francisco, Calif.; Wilhelmina McKenzie, cadet nurse at Allegany hospital, Cumberland; Rose Marie and Phyllis McGallie, at home.

Two sisters, Mrs. Estella Harris, Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Gertrude Klemm, Nevada, and a brother, Daniel Nolan, St. Mary's terrace, Lonaconing, survive. There are three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending word from her son, Seaman McKenzie.

Robert Boyd Dies

Word was received here of the death of Robert W. Boyd, Denver, Colo., a native of Lonaconing and cousin of the Misses Mamie and Anna Jones, Hanekamp street. Funeral service for Mr. Boyd were held Wednesday afternoon in the Palmer mortuary. Burial was made in Fairmount cemetery.

Mr. Boyd was born September 1887 in Lonaconing and moved to Cripple Creek, Colo., with his parents in 1897. In 1900 they moved to Denver. A veteran railroad man, he began his career in 1908 after graduating from business college. He worked in the freight and traffic departments of several western lines until 1917 when he entered the employ of the Harrington Mercantile company, in Denver, as traffic manager. He remained with that firm until they discontinued business in 1922.

The same year he was employed by the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, as chief clerk, later becoming traveling freight and passenger agent. This job took him over the states of Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and Western Nebraska until 1939 when illness forced retirement.

His wife Nellie E. Boyd, preceded him in death December 8, 1937. He was a member of the B.P.O.E. He was survived by a sister, Helen K. Boyd, a commercial teacher at Springfield high school, Glenwood Springs, Colo., and a sister-in-law, Louise Spelling, Denver, Colo.

Will Collect Paper

The Upper Potomac Salvage committee will continue its co-operative loadings of wastepaper through 1945 on a monthly basis as it has been doing. Loading will be on the last Saturday of each month at Frostburg, Keyser, and Piedmont. January marks the twelfth consecutive month that these co-operative loadings have been made. The movement started with a small number of communities uniting their efforts. Now, a sufficiently large number of communities collect and ship paper each month to guarantee monthly loading and shipments at three loading centers. Altogether about thirty different communities participate either on a monthly or bi-monthly basis.

The paper loading date for January will be this coming Saturday. The usual monthly collections will be made in Keyser, Frostburg, and Westport, and Luke. They will be at 1 o'clock in Bloomington, Beryl, and Franklin.

The Red Cross will, as usual, conduct a canteen in Piedmont for the salvage workers. This will be at the headquarters of Boy Scout Troop No. 33, Trinity Methodist church.

Monthly Paper Collection To Be Made Saturday

All Kinds of Wastepaper and Cardboard Are Badly Needed

By RUDOLPH NICKEL
FROSTBURG, Jan. 25—The regular monthly paper salvage collection will be made in Frostburg on Saturday, January 27. The trucks will begin collecting at 9 a. m. and all persons are requested to have their contributions at the curb or on the porch, where they will not be missed by the collectors.

Everything made of paper or cardboard is wanted; paper bags, newspapers, magazines, postcards and all types of cardboard boxes and containers are needed badly. Tie them together, or put them all in a cardboard box, so that the wind will not blow them away until the trucks arrive.

A large box car has been placed in the C. and P. railroad siding, near the depot, Salisbury, Grantsville, Elersie, Mount Savage, Eckhart and Midlothian will load paper into this car. Last month's collection filled the box car to overflowing, and some of the trucks had to store the paper until a later date.

Robert Ritchie Dies

Robert Ritchie, 60, native and lifelong resident of Borden Shaft, died about noon Thursday at his home after being ill since Tuesday. ## FROSTBURG BOYS MEET IN CALCUTTA

SGT. W. W. SLUSS, Jr. SGT. ROBERT PRICHARD

FROSTBURG, Jan. 25—Two army sergeants, First Sgt. W. W. Sluss, Jr., and Master Sgt. Robert Prichard, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Irvin Prichard, both of Frostburg, met December 20 in the market place in Calcutta, India, according to letters received recently by Frostburg relatives.

Sgt. Sluss, who has been in India for nineteen months, was in Calcutta at the time with a USO show. According to his letter, he had gone to the market to make some purchases, when he ran into Prichard who had recently arrived in India and was attached to a casual company, camped outside the city limits.

The boys had only fifteen minutes together before Prichard had to leave on the last bus of the day for his camp, but he promised to return to the following day. The second meeting was prevented when Prichard was dispatched to the interior of India as a replacement. In their brief meeting the boys stated to each other that, as school boys, they often dreamed of visiting old Calcutta but never realized it.

Ceiling Price Lists For Eggs, Produce Released by OPA

Price Panel Clerks Say Egg Prices Show Slight Drop

OPA community ceiling prices for eggs have decreased one or two cents below the prices in effect last week, according to a list released yesterday by price panel clerks of the local War Price and Rationing Board.

In Group 1 stores, Grade A eggs have ceiling prices per dozen of fifty-nine cents for extra large eggs, fifty-six cents for large eggs, and fifty-three cents for medium eggs. Large Grade B eggs cost fifty-one cents a dozen, and large Grade C eggs and ungraded eggs have a ceiling price of forty-seven cents a dozen.

In Group 2 stores, Grade A eggs cost fifty-eight cents a dozen for extra large eggs, fifty-five cents for large, and fifty-two cents for medium eggs. Large Grade B eggs in these stores cost fifty cents a dozen, and large Grade C and ungraded eggs cost forty-six cents a dozen.

Price panel clerks explained that the minimum weight per dozen for extra large eggs is twenty-six ounces; for large eggs, twenty-four ounces; for medium eggs, twenty-two ounces; and for small eggs, twenty ounces. For a one dozen carton, two cents may be added, and one cent may be added for a half dozen carton.

Fresh Produce Prices Given

Ceiling prices were also released yesterday on fresh fruit and vegetables. They will be in effect until further notice.

Apples, including Western Delicious, Rome Beauty, Staymans and Winesaps, cost thirty cents for two pounds; Eastern Staymans, Delicious, Golden Delicious and York Imperial varieties cost twenty cents for two pounds, and local apples cost nine cents for two pounds.

Suspended Sentence Given Cavallaro

A suspended sentence of one year in the Maryland House of Correction was given to Larry Cavallaro, Westernport, after a hearing in trial magistrates court yesterday before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr.

Cavallaro, an employee at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, was charged with assaulting his daughter, Catherine, 17, last Monday at their home. Witnesses testified that Cavallaro pulled the girl into the house by the hair and locked her in the cellar all night because she stayed out until 10:30 p. m. after going to the movies.

Magistrate Bruce ordered Cavallaro to refrain from further disturbances and to report to the court every thirty days.

Albert D. Clites, Bedford, Pa., was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Bruce yesterday on a charge of exceeding fifty miles an hour on Route 40 three miles east of Cumberland. Clites was arrested yesterday morning by First Sgt. John H. Doud of the state police.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes
Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty urination with smearing and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Alan Ford Continues Swim Record Assault

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 25. (AP)—Alan Ford, Yale's swimming captain, continued his assault on American twenty-yard pool swimming records today, smashing both the 100-meter and the 110-yard records established by Johnny Weismuller in 1927 and 1928.

Ford lowered Weismuller's 100-meter record of 0:57 seconds to 0:55.7, and slashed the 110-yard record of 0:37 to 0:36.4.

In the same time trial, sanctioned by the Connecticut A. A. U., the Balboa bullet missed Weismuller's twenty-yard tank mark of 0:49.8 for 100 yards by six-tenths of a second, being clocked in 0:50.4.

Schoolboy Pitcher Signed by Dodgers

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25. (AP)—Ervin Palica, 16-year-old high school boy, has signed a contract tendered him by Scout Tom Downey for duty with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Coach Wayne Sloss at Narbonne high commented regarding Pitcher Palica: "I sure hated to lose him—he had two more years at Narbonne—but I guess a lot of kids will be going up this year because of the shortage of players."

Baksi Meets Former Sparring Partner

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP)—Lee Oma, Detroit heavyweight who once served as Joe Baksi's sparring partner, meets the Kulpmont, Pa., fighter tonight in the ten-round main event at Madison Square Garden.

The house is scaled for $112,000 but indications are that the gate will approximate $80,000 for the first struggle of 1945 among the big boys in the Eighth avenue arena.

Oma weighed 184 today at the close of his preparations. Baksi, a heavy favorite, was 214.

Duke Basketballers Meet Navy Tomorrow

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 25. (AP)—The Duke university basketball team, undefeated in college circles, will tangle with the unbeaten United States Naval Academy Mid-dies here Saturday night.

The Duke Blue Devils have chalked up four straight victories against college opposition but have dropped six games out of thirteen played to date to more experienced service quints. They will be out to average a close 45-43 loss suffered at Annapolis last season.

NCAA Tournament Committees Named

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 25. (AP)—Harold G. Olsen, head basketball coach at Ohio State university and chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's basketball tournament committee, announced today the eight district committees which will select the teams to participate in the NCAA's seventh annual basketball tournament in March.

Each committee will select one team in its district to play in the tournaments.

The four teams selected from west of the Mississippi river will play at Kansas City March 23 and 24. The four selected from east of the Mississippi will compete at New York's Madison Square Garden March 22 and 24. The winners of those two meets then will clash in the finals at New York on March 27.

The University of Utah won the NCAA title last year.

Fort Hill Will Graduate Three Boys at Mid-Term

Fort Hill high school has announced that three boys are scheduled to graduate at mid-year under the accelerated program. They are, Fred Brinkman, Robert Cage, and Nelson DuVall, who will become 18 during the second semester and will then be eligible for military service. Last year eight boys were graduated at mid-term.

Plans are being made to honor the boys at an assembly program, but a definite date has not been set. This year, becoming 18 before the second semester is over and not taking the speed-up course is a group of boys who have already, or in the near future, will be in the armed forces. There are also some Juniors who joined the armed services at the same time. This group includes Ray Lapp, Tevis Durbin, Robert Crabtree, Billy Foley, Donald Parker, Clarence Jenkins, Nelson Sensabaugh, Donald Ware, Carroll Mattingly, Lester Huffman, James Matthews and Edward Nixon.

Last year was the first in which boys were permitted to graduate at mid-term. David Wright took the accelerated course to get a year of college before entering the armed forces, while the other seven, Harold Chaney, Robert Miller, Thomas Smith, Palmer Sullivan, Warren Squires, Paul Weaver, and Ernest Whitman joined the armed forces after graduation.

Sgt. Melvin Wright Is Back in States; Was Wounded Twice

T-Sgt. Melvin Dale "Mike" Wright, 507 Frederick street, husband of Mrs. Betty Clower Wright, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Wright, was recently returned to this country and is now in New York awaiting assignment to an army hospital.

Sgt. Wright was wounded twice, the first time while fighting in the battle for Brest on the Normandy coast and the second time in the vicinity of Nancy in Eastern France. He was one of the first men called to the service in 1941, and went overseas about a year ago. He was a member of the Sixth Armored division of Gen. Patton's Third army.

Last year was the first in which boys were permitted to graduate at mid-term. David Wright took the accelerated course to get a year of college before entering the armed forces, while the other seven, Harold Chaney, Robert Miller, Thomas Smith, Palmer Sullivan, Warren Squires, Paul Weaver, and Ernest Whitman joined the armed forces after graduation.

Fort Hill Will Graduate Three Boys at Mid-Term

Fort Hill high school has announced that three boys are scheduled to graduate at mid-year under the accelerated program. They are, Fred Brinkman, Robert Cage, and Nelson DuVall, who will become 18 during the second semester and will then be eligible for military service. Last year eight boys were graduated at mid-term.

Plans are being made to honor the boys at an assembly program, but a definite date has not been set. This year, becoming 18 before the second semester is over and not taking the speed-up course is a group of boys who have already, or in the near future, will be in the armed forces. There are also some Juniors who joined the armed services at the same time. This group includes Ray Lapp, Tevis Durbin, Robert Crabtree, Billy Foley, Donald Parker, Clarence Jenkins, Nelson Sensabaugh, Donald Ware, Carroll Mattingly, Lester Huffman, James Matthews and Edward Nixon.

Sgt. Melvin Wright Is Back in States; Was Wounded Twice

T-Sgt. Melvin Dale "Mike" Wright, 507 Frederick street, husband of Mrs. Betty Clower Wright, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Wright, was recently returned to this country and is now in New York awaiting assignment to an army hospital.

Sgt. Wright was wounded twice, the first time while fighting in the battle for Brest on the Normandy coast and the second time in the vicinity of Nancy in Eastern France. He was one of the first men called to the service in 1941, and went overseas about a year ago. He was a member of the Sixth Armored division of Gen. Patton's Third army.

Myrtle McKenzie Is Therapist Aide In Army Hospital

Pvt. Myrtle J. McKenzie, sister of Mrs. William L. Goldsworthy, Cresaptown, is now stationed at an army hospital in San Antonio, Tex., as a WAC occupational therapist aide, according to a letter which Sgts. Ruth Baker, local WAC recruiter, received from her yesterday.

Pvt. McKenzie, daughter of Mrs. John L. McKenzie, Ethridge, Mont., came to Cresaptown to live with her sister about two years ago. A former Celanese employee, she enlisted in the WAC last September 14, and received her basic training at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

She was one of thirteen WACs selected to receive training in occupational therapy at Halloran General hospital, Staten Island, N. Y. After completing her training there, she was assigned to duty in the Texas hospital about two weeks ago. In her letter, Pvt. McKenzie stated that she is in charge of handicrafts in the ward program of the hospital.

Before leaving Montana, Pvt. McKenzie won ribbons at state fairs there for her clay sculptures of models depicting Western subjects and wild life. The models have been displayed at Glacier National park, Mont., and Yellowstone National park, Wyo.

day and Thursday nights, and will also hold religious services every Sunday night.

The organization will stress gospel mission work and recreation for children. Charity activity is also planned.

The Volunteers have been soliciting funds in outlying communities for sometime and will also conduct a drive here, Adjutant Mullenix said. She explained that money raised to date has been used to prepare the headquarters.

A uniform consisting of a cadet gray dress, cadet gray cape lined with red, and a gray overseas cap is worn by the Volunteers.

The Cumberland office is under the direction of Col. Walter O. Ulrey, Washington.

Three Cumberlanders Receive Drivers Award in Europe

Three Cumberland men serving with the Twenty-ninth infantry division have received the Drivers award for outstanding ability in the performance of duties as army chauffeurs in the combat zone under most difficult conditions, according to a report by Holbrook Bradley, Baltimore Sunpapers war correspondent.

Often under fire of enemy observation, these GI's have stuck to the rigorous work that is highly important in a mechanized army. A number have been killed in action and more wounded in the line of duty, the report announced. In order to qualify for the Drivers award one must pass the aptitude and standard qualifications tests, both practical and written.

Cumberlanders who received the award are T. S. G. Arny A. Barbe, brother of Robert S. Barbe, 612 Maryland avenue, and husband of Mrs. Margaret Buckley Barbe, assistant nurse in the Allegheny hospital operating room. He joined the service April 1, 1941, and trained at Fort George G. ## Survey Reveals Baseball Can Get Along with Young and Old Players

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—Professional baseball probably has enough 17-year-olds and players over 38 to man the sixteen major league rosters if conditions necessitate such action.

A nationwide survey by the Associated Press today uncovered almost 450 players whose 1944 experience ranged from the big leagues to Class D. Many of these still would be available if all now in the military draft age should be taken.

It wouldn't be big league ball but it might serve as an acceptable stop gap if proposed national service legislation is passed and put into immediate large scale operation.

There has been no official indication from the sport or from the government that there will be any radical change in the attitude expressed by the president's "carry on if you can" message.

Big league executives have continued to make training camp plans, player deals and mail out contracts on the assumption that the season will open as usual in mid-April. For the most part they are depending on the holdovers from '44 who have not been called to service.

Any sweeping grab of the teen agers and over 38s probably would wreck most of the minors and would involve drastic changes in the methods by which players are moved up the baseball ladder.

The American League had twenty-two overage and six under 18 on its roster last year and the National fifteen over thirty-eight and eight under draft age. But the scale wid-

Plans for Red Cross Court Game Announced

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—Plans for a third annual Red Cross basketball game between the winners of the National Invitation and the N. C. A. A. tournaments were announced today with March 29 the probable date for the Madison Square Garden battle of champions.

Invitation tourney starts March 17 with the final round listed for March 25 and the collegiate group stages its regionals March 22 and Nationals final March 27.

Utah defeated St. John's, 43-36, in last year's Red Cross game, an affair inaugurated in 1943 when Wyoming topped St. John's 52-47.

ens down through the lower class leagues where teen agers made up over fifty per cent of the Class D player lists. Approximately seventy-seven boys under 18 played in the three Double A loops which also used about sixty overage men.

Although perhaps fifty per cent of the 17s of 1944 now are 18 and in the armed service, it is reasonable to believe that similar skilled youngsters from the Junior Legion and sandlot ranks will be available as replacements.

Public works, industrial development and veterans' programs received major attention of state planning agencies during the last year, the American Society of Planning Officials says.

More Competitive Athletics Needed, Com. Kane Says

Points to Success of Navy's Physical Training Program

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—The success of the Navy's strenuous physical training program proves the need of more competitive athletics in America's schools and colleges, Commander William E. Kane told about thirty-five college athletic directors at the opening session of the schedule-making conference of the central office for Eastern Intercollegiate athletics today.

Kane, newly-appointed chief of the naval aviation physical training division, told of his own observations in the Pacific war zone on the importance of physical condition. The Navy's plan, he said, calls for a stiff competitive program beginning in the pre-flight schools and continuing after training is completed.

"We believe in varsity sports very much," he said, "but we also believe every individual should have a chance to participate in competitive athletics."

Kane indicated that colleges and schools should adopt this theory of athletics for all in order to help "contribute to a strong world" after the war. Compulsory military training would get boys in good physical condition, he added, but one year of training would not be adequate. Instead he proposed a competitive program for every boy beginning in grade school and continuing through college.

"There is no question in my mind about the contribution of sports toward winning the war," Kane said. "The boys who were in good physical condition and who made the best marks in physical tests we gave aboard a carrier were the ones I knew were good pilots. They got malaria and tropical diseases like the rest down around Guadalcanal, but the boys who kept in shape got over this stuff."

The SPORT TRAIL By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—The recent announcement that five plebe, or freshman, football players at West Point were deficient in their studies was greeted with a knowing wink by more than a few skeptical citizens.

"Don't worry," was the message of the wink, "they'll be back next fall. Army isn't going to let any good football players get away for that reason."

Well, maybe they'll be back and maybe they won't. We admit we were a little skeptical ourselves about a year ago when Glen Davis, all-America back last fall, was given another chance after a classroom fumble, but we've learned different since, as they say.

That is, Davis returned and played football again last fall because he met certain rigid requirements, and not because he could tuck a football under his arm and go giddy-up, giddy-down the field.

We have learned that the first consideration of the school officials in giving a scholastically deficient boy a chance to come back is: is he good officer material? For after all, the primary purpose of the academy is to turn out first-class officers.

Scholastically deficient cadets are divided into three classes. The first are those down in only one subject, usually math. If otherwise their record is good and they are deemed officer material, they are given a chance to prep in the subject and return to school.

The second group is made up of boys who flunked two subjects. These, also if considered good future officers, may take a re-entry examination and, if they pass, return as plebes.

The third group is made up of those who fail to pass in three or more subjects. These lads are out, that's all.

Now considering the fact that maybe more than 150 members of a plebe class of about 800 are down in their studies, the presence of four or five good football players in that group is not unusual. In fact, if there were no football players on the list it just wouldn't be normal.

Some of our finest officers today had their scholastic difficulties at the Point. Lt. Gen. George Patton

Navy's Track Team Will Be Ready for Championship Meet

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 25 (AP)—Navy's track team should be ready this time for the indoor I C 4-A championships March 3—something it wasn't in 1944—because this year Earl Thompson's Middies have been entered in the Millrose A A games Feb. 3 at Madison Square Garden.

Last year the Middies lost to Army, 47 to 36%, in the indoor championships, and the defeat was attributed to lack of earlier competition. They redeemed themselves in the spring by walloping the Cadets in their annual dual meet and in the I C 4-A outdoor events, setting up a record score of eighty-two points in the latter test.

Sixteen Middies will comprise Navy's Millrose entry, with Annapolis colors being represented in the sprints, hurdles, two-mile run, high jump, mile relay and two-mile relay. They may take a fling at one or two other meets prior to March 3.

Man O'War Remains Tops in News Value

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—It has been twenty-five years since Man O'War first caught the fancy of the American racing public but he still is considered the top thoroughbred in the matter of news value.

Fifty sports writers from twenty-nine different states, participating in a poll conducted by the thoroughbred racing associations, picked old red by a one-point margin over Whirlaway, world's leading money winner. Tied for third were Alsab, Count Fleet and Seabiscuit with War Admiral, Equipoise and Exterminator following in that order.

Talc, the basis of face powder, has important war uses.

Radio Army Show Schedules Four Stars as Guests

Nine Hundred Servicemen and Officers Will Be in Studio

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (P)—Stage Door Canteen has made some ambitious plans for its Friday broadcast on CBS at 10:30, provided the program as scheduled goes on. Heading the guest list of four will be Bob Hope, along with his Jerry Colonna. Then there will be Vera Vague and Kay Francis. Studios guests are to be 900 officers and men of the Eastern defense command.

It Pays To Be Ignorant, introduced to the CBS list by Kate Smith after it had already had some network experiences on MBS, will continue the present series at 9, instead of going off as had been announced.

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear sister, Helen R. Fuller, who died January 27, 1942.

You gentle face and loving smile,
With sadness we recall,
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.

You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memory lasts,
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by, we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and brother, Charles Bowman. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers, loaves of cake for the funeral and the Rev. B. P. Hartman, the pallbearers, and Steinhilber Funeral Home.
